To Whom It May Concern:

RE: Charlie Lustman

It is a great honor and privilege to recommend Charlie Lustman for any type of cancer survivor, caregiver, oncology professional event. Charlie is a tremendous inspiration for all and his story and delivery of such is a truly exceptional experience.

Our organization was fortunate enough to host Charlie on April 29th and 30th of this year. On April 29th Charlie spent most of the day visiting all oncology areas within our health system (inpatient oncology unit, outpatient infusion, radiation oncology, pediatric inpatient oncology unit) taking the opportunity to visit with patients and their family members one on one as well as nursing personnel and caregivers. On April 30th Charlie attended an open house event for cancer survivors and the community hosted at our Saint Francis Cancer Center sharing his songs and survivorship story.

Charlie's personal connection with patients and caregivers meant so very much and his message of hope, faith, courage and empathy can't be matched in my opinion. His worth and value to anyone connected to cancer cannot be measured in dollars and cents. Our patients and staff's lives have been enriched because of this experience with Charlie Lustman and I strongly encourage any organization to consider utilizing him in any venue possible.

Sincerely,
