

November 8, 2011

Charlie Lustman
www.mademenuclear.com

Dear Charlie:

Your visit to the Georgia Health Sciences Cancer Center (formerly the Medical College of Georgia Cancer Center) on September 28th was an inspiration for our patients, physicians and staff. You have an uplifting message that everyone needs to hear. Many times when people hear the word "cancer" they automatically think that it is a death sentence. You are living proof that people can be diagnosed with cancer, be treated and live to tell about it or in your case sing about it. I think that as more people talk about the disease and treatment process it reduces the fear and uncertainty of what happens when someone is first told they have cancer.

I think it is amazing that you have developed a pop operetta based on your cd, Made Me Nuclear. Unfortunately, I was not able to attend your show when you were here in Augusta, GA, but I am sure that everyone who did attend left the performance with a smile on their faces. I strongly recommend that cancer programs across the country open their doors to allow you to share your message and songs. If anyone has questions or concerns about allowing you to perform at their cancer center, feel free to give them my email address, stblack@georgiahealth.edu and I will be happy to enlighten them.

Sincerely,

Steven L. Black, MBA
Administrative Director
Georgia Health Sciences Cancer Center
Georgia Health Sciences University
Augusta, GA

Cancer Center
1411 Laney Walker Blvd.
Augusta, Georgia 30912
706-721-6744
Fax 706-721-1500
georgiahealth.org/cancer